Known for their witty lyrics and hilarious songs about typical life scenarios, Bobby Bones and the Raging Idiots have announced that they will be releasing their first full-length children's album.

Always encouraging the positive aspects of life in a light-hearted manner, Bones and the crew will put out a 12-track record called The Raging Kidiots: Kiddy Up! and focus on topics that the little ones can sing and dance along to. This album will follow up to their previously released EP, The Raging Idiots Presents – The Raging Kidiots.

“We wanted to continue what we started with the Kidiots EP and make a full length album,” said Bones. “At this point everyone knows we don’t take ourselves too seriously, but our goal in all of this is to have fun with it, provide a positive message to kids and maybe even help them learn something along the way. I’ve always said I believe the children are our future, teach them well and let them lead the way....maybe I didn’t say that, but it seems to fit here.”

Friends of Bones and the Raging Idiots will also be featured on the fun-filled album including artists like Lindsay Ell and Nikita Karmen, and co-writers such as Ell, Lauren Alaina, Eric Paslay, Kristian Bush and more.

Each of the songs on the record will cover a number of kid-friendly topics from educations subjects to socializing to always keeping an uplifting attitude. The album will be a perfect blend of happy songs for both parents and their kids included.

The Raging Kidiots: Kiddy Up! will be available for purchase on Friday, September 30, exclusively at Cracker Barrel shops nationwide.
