Lady Antebellum, 'Heart Break' (June 9)

"We wanted to get back that feeling we felt back in 2006 when we started," Dave Haywood of Lady Antebellum told Billboard of the communal Heart Break recording process. The group would probably settle for the early-'10s feeling of being one of the biggest country bands on the planet, and though hits and sales have lagged somewhat for Lady A in the years since, the brassy swagger of lead single "You Look Good" shows the group hasn't lost any of their mojo in the interim.
