

Thomas Rhett Expects to Share a Lot of Laughs with Pal Brett Eldredge on the Road This Fall

Valory Music Co./Warner Music Nashville

Thomas Rhett and Brett Eldredge have become really good friends in the past year, and that friendship led them to go on the road together for the Boots & Suits tour this fall. Thomas expects to share a lot of laughs with Brett onstage and between shows.

"He's the goofiest dude I've ever met," Thomas tells ABC Radio. "He's one of those people that I don't think you could sit in a room and just, like, watch football without him talking to you. Brett's energy level from, like, 6 a.m. until he goes to bed, is just nonstop. He's on 12."

Thomas goes on to call Brett a "fun, happy person to be around," and you can see their friendship on display in a new series of lighthearted commercials for the restaurant chain, Zaxby's.

Says Thomas, "Us doing a commercial together, I mean, there's no way that that could have failed. I mean, he's funny and we play off each other really well."

Look for Thomas and Brett to announce their Boots & Suits tour dates soon.

Copyright © 2015, ABC Radio. All rights reserved.

