Singer/songwriter Thomas Rhett became the first Male Country Artist in over 20 years to have three consecutive hits top the Billboard Country Charts when his debut album “It Goes Like This” was released in 2013. That caught the attention of country duo Florida Georgia Line, who asked the Georgia native to pen them a hit – and after Rhett wrote the duo’s number one song “Round Here” – they had one further request... for Rhett to join them on tour!

Rhett tells ET Canada, “I’m so thankful to be on the road with (Florida Georgia Line) that are not only friends, but are also selling out everywhere they go.”

And he is on the fast track to stardom thanks to the buzz surrounding his upcoming sophomore album “Tangled Up” (set for release in September 25, 2015). The 25-year-old opens saying, “The label basically gave me the keys to just go do what we wanted to do.... country music is a part of me man. It’s a part of my heart. It’s a part of my soul. But I do love other types of music too.” Adding, “So it’s very, very, very diverse [And with] ‘Crash’ being my fastest rising single, my biggest selling single at this point. It's nice to know that your gut actually panned out!"

Fame can be a big adjustment for anyone! Thankfully, the singer has his wife Lauren by his side each step of the way. The pair have known each other since the first grade and the couple may be expanding their family in the near future. Rhett tells us: "We've said we were going to do it for the longest time... probably in the next couple of years we'll try to start one... I want three [kids]. She wants five. So we'll probably have five."
